Introductory Note.

The present compilation consists of the Government of India Act and the Rules made thereunder as in force on the 1st December, 1924, with the exception of the Electoral Rules, the Rules of Legislative Business, the Standing Orders of the Legislative bodies and the Fundamental Rules.

2. The Government of India Act, 1915 (5 & 6 Geo. 5, c. 61) was a consolidating measure repealing and re-enacting the numerous Parliamentary Statutes relating to the administration of British India which had been passed between the years 1770 and 1912. This Act was amended in certain minor respects by the Government of India Amendment Act, 1916 (6 & 7 Geo. 5, c. 37) which also contained certain substantive provisions not incorporated in the principal Act. In 1919 the Act again underwent amendment by the passing of the Government of India Act, 1919 (9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 101) which was enacted for the purpose of bringing into effect the Indian constitutional reforms based on what is commonly known as the Montagu-Chelmsford Report. Section 45 of the Act of 1919 provides that the amendments made by that Act and the Act of 1916 shall be incorporated in the text of the Government of India Act, 1915, and that that Act as so amended shall be known as the Government of India Act. The "Government of India Act" is thus not a separate Parliamentary enactment but a properly certified version of the Act of 1915 as subsequently amended.

This publication accordingly only reproduces those parts of the Acts of 1916 and 1919 which are substantive provisions not incorporated in the Government of India Act, including the preamble to the Act of 1919 which is based on the announcement made by His Majesty's Secretary of State for India in the House of Commons on the 20th August, 1917, declaring the new policy intended to be adopted in the development of self-governing institutions in British India.

3. Under

3. Under the Government of India Act many of the details requisite for carrying into effect the constitutional changes made by the Act are to be provided for by rules made under the Act. The rules so made have all been published in the Gazette of India and for the most part have been included in an India Office publication called " Rules under the Government of India Act " which was issued in 1921. The only rules which have not been included in this volume are those mentioned in paragraph 1 which are of considerable volume and have been published separately in convenient form.

REPORT FROM THE JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE OF THE HOUSE OF LORDS AND THE HOUSE OF COMMONS APPOINTED TO CONSIDER THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA BILL.

ORDERED TO REPORT—

1. That the Committee have met and considered the said Bill and taken the evidence of a large number of witnesses, many of whom had come all the way from India for the purpose. A mass of telegrams and other communications has also been received. The list of witnesses and the telegrams have been printed as an appendix to the evidence. Written representations have not as a rule been printed. The Committee appreciate the advantage they have derived from being placed in full possession of the views of many persons who have given much thought to the political future of the country.

2. The Committee were not charged, as some have seemed to think, with the task of reporting on the state of India, or on the conduct of the administration in India, or even at large on the best form of government for India, but only with the duty of dealing with this Bill, which had been read a second time in the House of Commons, according to the well-known forms of Parliamentary procedure and with the rules and conventions arising out of it.

3. In the declaration made by His Majesty's Government on the 20th August, 1917, there is enunciated the problem for which the Bill endeavours to provide a solution. It is to design the first stage in a measured progress towards responsible government. Any such stage, if it is to be a real advance, must, as the Committee conceive it, involve the creation

creation of an electorate, and the bestowal of some share in the work and responsibilities of government on those whom the electorate chooses to represent its interests. In the present circumstances of India, the electorate must at the outset be small and the administrative experience of its representatives must be limited. Before, therefore, the policy of His Majesty's Government can be fulfilled the electorate must grow, and practical experience in the conduct of public affairs must be enlarged. During this period the guardianship of the peace of India cannot be withdrawn from the care of the official agency which Parliament at present charges with the duties of the administration, and the Committee regard it to be an essential feature of the policy of His Majesty's Government that, except in so far as he is released from responsibility by the changes made under this Bill, the Governor-General in Council should remain in undisturbed responsibility to Parliament and fully equipped with the necessary powers to fulfil that responsibility. But from the beginning the people must be given an opportunity, and all political wisdom points to its being a generous opportunity, of learning the actual business of government and of showing, by their conduct of it, to some future Parliament that the time has come for further extensions of power.

4. In the opinion of the Committee the plan proposed by the Bill is conceived wholly in this spirit, and interprets the pronouncement of the 20th August, 1917, with scrupulous accuracy. It partitions the domain of provincial government into two fields, one of which is made over to ministers chosen from the elected members of the provincial legislature while the other remains under the administration of a Governor-in-Council. This scheme has evoked apprehensions which are not unnatural in view of its novelty. But the Committee, after the most careful consideration of all suggested alternatives are of opinion that it is the best way of giving effect to the spirit of the declared policy of His Majesty's

Government of India Bill.*

Majesty's Government. Its critics forget that the announcement spoke of a substantial step in the direction of the gradual development of self-governing institutions with a view to the progressive realisation of responsible government and not of the partial introduction of responsible government; and it is this distinction which justifies the method by which the Bill imposes responsibility, both on Ministers to the legislative council and on the members of the legislative council to their constituents, for the results of that part of the administration which is transferred to their charge.

5. Having weighed the evidence and information before them, the Committee have made a number of changes in the Bill. Those of a more detailed or miscellaneous character are briefly discussed below under the clauses to which they relate. Those which are directed to the avoidance of the difficulties and dangers which have been pointed out, proceed on a simple and, in the Committee's opinion, an indefeasible theory. That theory the Committee think it desirable to state at once. Ministers who enjoy the confidence of a majority in their legislative council will be given the fullest opportunity of managing that field of government which is entrusted to their care. In their work they will be assisted and guided by the Governor, who will accept their advice and promote their policy whenever possible. If he finds himself compelled to act against their advice, it will only be in circumstances roughly analogous to those in which he has to override his executive council—circumstances which will be indicated in the Instrument of Instructions furnished to him on his appointment by His Majesty. On the other hand, in and for that field of government in which Parliament continues to hold him responsible, the provincial Governor-in-Council will remain equipped with the sure and certain power of fulfilling that responsibility. The Committee will indicate in the course of this Report how they visualise the relations between the two parts of the provincial government, government, but they wish to place in the forefront of the Report their opinion that they see no reason why the relations should not be harmonious and mutually advantageous. They regard it as of the highest importance that the Governor should foster the habit of free consultation between both halves of his government, and indeed that he should insist upon it in all important matters of common interest. He will thus ensure that ministers will contribute their knowledge of the people's wishes and susceptibilities, and the members of his Executive Council their administrative experience, to the joint wisdom of the government. But while the Committee anticipate much advantage from amicable and, as far as possible, spontaneous association for purposes of deliberation they would not allow it to confuse the duties or obscure the separate responsibility which will rest on the two parts of the administration. Each side of the government will advise and assist the other; neither will control or impede the other. The responsibility for administrative and legislative action in their own field will be fixed beyond possibility of doubt on ministers and on the majorities of the provincial legislatures which support them; and they will be given adequate power to fulfil their charge. Similarly within that field for which he remains accountable to Parliament, the responsibility for action must be fixed on the Governor-in-Council, and he must possess unfailing means for the discharge of his duties. Finally, behind the provincial authorities stands the Government of India.

6. The change which this Bill will make in the political structure and life of India is very important. It marks a great step in the path of self-government, and it is a proof of the confidence reposed by His Majesty's Government in the loyalty, wisdom and capacity of our Indian fellow-subjects. At the same time it points to the desirability of keeping Parliament in closer touch with Indian affairs than has recently been possible. The Committee mittee accordingly propose that a Standing Joint Committee should be appointed by both Houses of Parliament for that purpose. It should have no statutory functions, but a purely advisory and consultative status; and among its tasks is one of high importance, the consideration of amendments to rules made under this Bill. For the plan on which the Bill has been drafted, and in the opinion of the Committee rightly drafted, will necessitate the completion of some of its main provisions by a large number of rules and other documents which will have to be framed before the machinery established by the Bill can come into working order. Many of these rules and documents will be drafted in India for the approval of the Secretary of State. When they come to England, it may be found convenient that the present Committee be re-appointed to advise Parliament in regard to them.

7. The Committee will now proceed to indicate the nature of the changes they have made in the Bill, and also their suggestions for action to be taken under it, either in the framing of rules or by executive process hereafter.

PREAMBLE.

The Preamble of the Bill, as drafted, was based on the announcement of His Majesty's Government in Parliament of the 20th August, 1917, and it incorporated that part of the announcement which pointed to the progressive realisation of responsible government in British India as an integral part of the Empire, and to the expediency of gradually developing self-governing institutions in India, and it referred to the granting to the Provinces of India of a large measure of independence of the Government of India. It did not, however, deal with those parts of the announcement which spoke of the increasing association of Indians in every branch of the administration, and declared that the progress of this policy could only be achieved by successive stages, stages, and that Parliament, advised by His Majesty's Government and by the Government of India, on whom the responsibility lies for the welfare and advancement of the Indian people, must be the judge of the time and measure of each advance, and be guided by the co-operation received from those upon whom new opportunities of service are conferred and by the extent to which it is found that confidence can be reposed in their sense of responsibility.

The Committee have enlarged the preamble so as to include all parts of the announcement of the 20th August, 1917. Their reason for doing so is that an attempt has been made to distinguish between the parts of this announcement, and to attach a different value to each part according to opinion. It has been said, for instance, that whereas the first part is a binding pledge, the later part is a mere expression of opinion of no importance. But the Committee think that it is of the utmost importance, from the very inauguration of these constitutional changes, that Parliament should make it quite plain that the responsibility for the successive stages of the development of self-government in India rests on itself and on itself alone, and that it cannot share this responsibility with, much less delegate it to, the newly-elected legislatures of India.

They also desire to emphasize the wisdom and justice of an increasing association of Indians with every branch of the administration, but they wish to make it perfectly clear that His Majesty's Government must remain free to appoint Europeans to those posts for which they are specially required and qualified.

PART I.

Clause 1.—The Committee wish to take this opportunity of acknowledging the debt they owe to the work of the two Committees on Franchise and Functions presided over by Lord Southborough.
If

Report of the Joint Select Committee on the Government of India Bill.

If they are not able to accept all the conclusions of these Committees, and if they recommend some additional provisions to those included in those reports, it does not mean that they are not very sensible of the value of the work done, without which, indeed, this constitutional change could not have been effected.

The lists of central, provincial and transferred subjects included in the Functions Committee's report have been somewhat altered after consultation with the India Office (see Appendix F to the Minutes of Evidence); and as so amended they are accepted by this Committee, subject to certain general observations at the end of this Report. It must not, however, be concluded that these partitions of the functions of government are absolutely clear-cut and mutually exclusive. They must in all cases be read with the reservations in the text of the Functions Committee's report, and with due regard to the necessity for special procedure in cases where their orbits overlap.

The Committee have given much attention to the difficult question of the principle on which the provincial revenues and balances should be distributed between the two sides of the provincial governments. They are confident that the problem can readily be solved by the simple process of common sense and reasonable give-and-take, but they are aware that this question might, in certain circumstances, become the cause of much friction in the provincial government, and they are of opinion that the rules governing the allocation of these revenues and balances should be framed so as to make the existence of such friction impossible. They advise that, if the Governor, in the course of preparing either his first or any subsequent budget, finds that there is likely to be a serious or protracted difference of opinion between the executive council and his ministers on this subject, he should be empowered at once to make an allocation of revenue and balances between the reserved and transferred subjects, which should

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on the

should continue for at least the whole life of the existing legislative council. The Committee do not endorse the suggestion that certain sources of revenue should be allocated to reserved, and certain sources to transferred subjects, but they recommend that the Governor should allocate a definite proportion of the revenue, say, by way of illustration, two-thirds to reserved and one-third to transferred subjects, and similarly a proportion, though not necessarily the same fraction, of the balances. If the Governor desires assistance in making the allocation, he should be allowed at his discretion to refer the question to be decided to such authority as the Governor-General shall appoint. Further, the Committee are of opinion that it should be laid down from the first that, until an agreement which both sides of the Government will equally support has been reached, or until an allocation has been made by the Governor, the total provisions of the different expenditure heads in the budget of the province for the preceding financial year shall hold good.

The Committee desire that the relation of the two sides of the Government in this matter, as in all others, should be of such mutual sympathy that each will be able to assist and influence for the common good the work of the other, but not to exercise control over it. The budget should not be capable of being used as a means for enabling ministers or a majority of the legislative council to direct the policy of reserved subjects; but on the other hand the executive council should be helpful to ministers in their desire to develop the departments entrusted to their care. On the Governor personally will devolve the task of holding the balance between the legitimate needs of both sets of his advisers.

Clause 2.—This clause has been inserted to regularise the raising of loans by local governments on the special security of their own provincial revenues.

Clause 3.—The question has been raised as to the communications between the Governors of provinces provinces and the Secretary of State. The question as to whether such communications shall in future take place, and as to the procedure to be adopted in them, may well be left to the Secretary of State. In the opinion of the Committee there is no cause at present for disturbing the existing position, except to the extent to which the Secretary of State relaxes his powers of direction and control over local governments. To that extent the Government of India will also withdraw from intervention; but India is not yet ripe for a true federal system, and the central government cannot be relegated to functions of mere inspection and advice. The Committee trust that there will be an extensive delegation, statutory and otherwise, to provincial governments of some powers and duties now in the hands of the Government of India; and they trust also that the control of that Government over provincial matters will be exercised with a view to preparing the provinces for the gradual transfer of power to the provincial government and legislature.

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on the

Clause 4.—The Committee are of opinion that the ministers selected by the Governor to advise him on the transferred subjects should be elected members of the legislative council, enjoying its confidence and capable of leading it. A minister will have the option of resigning if his advice is not accepted by the Governor; and the Governor will have the ordinary constitutional right of dismissing a minister whose policy he believes to be either seriously at fault or out of accord with the views of the legislative council. In the last resort the Governor can always dissolve his legislative council and choose new ministers after a fresh election; but if this course is adopted the Committee hope that the Governor will find himself able to accept such views as his new ministers may press upon him regarding the issue which forced the dissolution. The Committee are of opinion that in no province will there be need for less than two ministers, while in some provinces more will be required. In these circumstances stances they think that it should be recognised from the commencement that ministers may be expected to act in concert together. They probably would do so; and in the opinion of the Committee it is better that they should, and therefore that the fact should be recognised on the face of the Bill. They advise that the status of ministers should be similar to that of the members of the executive council, but that their salaries should be fixed by the legislative council. Later on in this Report it will be suggested that Indian members of the Council of India in London should be paid a higher scale of remuneration than those members of the Council domiciled in the United Kingdom. The same principle might suggest to the legislative council that it was reasonable for the ministers of the provincial government domiciled in India to be paid on a lower scale of remuneration than the European members.

Provision has been made in this clause for the appointment, at the Governor's discretion, of non-official members of the legislative council to fill a rôle somewhat similar to that of the Parliamentary Under-Secretary in this country.

Clause 5.—The Committee are of opinion that the normal strength of an executive council, especially in the smaller provinces, need not exceed two members. They have not, however, reduced the existing statutory maximum of four; but if in any case the council includes two members with service qualifications, neither of whom is by birth an Indian, they think that it should also include two unofficial Indian members.

Clause 6.—The Committee desire at this point to give a picture of the manner in which they think that, under this Bill, the government of a province should be worked. There will be many matters of administrative business, as in all countries, which can be disposed of departmentally. But there will remain a large category of business, of the character which would naturally be the subject of Cabinet consultation. In regard to this category the Committee

mittee conceive that the habit should be carefully fostered of joint deliberation between the members of the executive council and the ministers, sitting under the chairmanship of the Governor. There cannot be too much mutual advice and consultation on such subjects; but the Committee attach the highest importance to the principle that, when once opinions have been freely exchanged and the last word has been said, there ought then to be no doubt whatever as to where the responsibility for the decision lies. Therefore, in the opinion of the Committee, after such consultation, and when it is clear that the decision lies within the jurisdiction of one or other half of the Government, that decision in respect of a reserved subject should be recorded separately by the executive council, and in respect of a transferred subject by the ministers, and all acts and proceedings of the government should state in definite terms on whom the responsibility for the decision rests. It will not always, however, be clear, otherwise than in a purely departmental and technical fashion, with whom the jurisdiction lies in the case of questions of common interest. In such cases it will be inevitable for the Governor to occupy the position of informal arbitrator between the two parts of his administration; and it will equally be his duty to see that a decision arrived at on one side of his government is followed by such consequential action on the other side as may be necessary to make the policy effective and homogeneous.

The position of the Governor will thus be one of great responsibility and difficulty, and also of great opportunity and honour. He may have to hold the balance between divergent policies and different ideals, and to prevent discord and friction. It will also be for him to help with sympathy and courage the popular side of his government in their new responsibilities. He should never hesitate to point out to ministers what he thinks is the right course or to warn them if he thinks they are taking the wrong course.

course. But if, after hearing all the arguments, ministers should decide not to adopt his advice, then in the opinion of the Committee, the Governor should ordinarily allow ministers to have their way, fixing the responsibility upon them, even if it may subsequently be necessary for him to veto any particular piece of legislation. It is not possible but that in India, as in all other countries, mistakes will be made by ministers, acting with the approval of a majority of the legislative council, but there is no way of learning except through experience and by the realisation of responsibility.

In the debates of the legislative council members of the executive council should act together and ministers should act together, but members of the executive council and ministers should not oppose each other by speech or vote; members of the executive council should not be required to support either by speech or vote proposals of ministers of which they do not approve, nor should ministers be required to support by speech or vote proposals of the executive council of which they do not approve; they should be free to speak and vote for each other's proposals when they are in agreement with them. All other official members of the legislative council should be free to speak and vote as they choose.

Clause 7.—The Committee have altered the first schedule to the Bill, so as to show only the total strength of the legislative council in each province. They have retained the provision, now in sub-clause (2), that at least 70 per cent. of the members shall be elected, and not more than 20 per cent. shall be officials. This general stipulation will govern the distribution of the seats in each province; but in certain respects the detailed arrangements will require further consideration, and proposals should be called for from the Government of India in regard to them. The points in question, as well as some disputable matters on which the Committee wish to endorse the proposals of the Franchise Committee's report, report, are dealt with in the following recommendations :—

- (a) The Committee regard the number of seats allotted to the rural population, as distinct from the urban, as disproportionately low and consider that it should receive a larger share of representation. They also think that an attempt should be made to secure better representation of the urban wage-earning class; and they are convinced that an effort should be made to remedy in part at least the present disparity between the size of the electorates in the different provinces. In all those matters no definite instructions need be given. The Government of India should be left a wide discretion in adjusting the figures, subject, however, to the understanding that the adjustment should be effected in all cases rather by enlargement than by diminution of the representation proposed in the Franchise Committee's report.
- (b) The Committee are of opinion that the representation proposed for the depressed classes is inadequate. Within this definition are comprised, as shown in the report of the Franchise Committee, a large proportion of the whole population of India. They think that the Government of India should, as it advises, be instructed to give such classes a larger share of representation by nomination, regard being had to the numbers of depressed classes in each province, and after consultation with the Local Governments. This representation should, if necessary, be in addition to, but not in diminution of, the general electorate. Whenever possible, other persons than members of the Civil Services

Government of India Bill.*

Services should be selected to represent the depressed classes, but if a member of those services, specially qualified for this purpose, has to be appointed, his nomination should not operate to increase the maximum ratio of official seats.

- (c) In the Madras Presidency the Committee consider that the non-Brahmins must be provided with separate representation by means of the reservation of seats. The Brahmins and non-Brahmins should be invited to settle the matter by negotiation among themselves; and it would only be, if agreement cannot be reached in that way, that the decision should be referred to an arbitrator appointed for the purpose by the Government of India.
- (d) The Committee would recommend that similar treatment be accorded to the Mahrattas in the Bombay Presidency.
- (e) The question whether women should or should not be admitted to the franchise on the same terms as men should be left to the newly elected legislative council of each province to settle by resolution. The Government of India should be instructed to make rules so that, if a legislative council so voted, women might be put upon the register of voters in that province. The Committee have not felt able to settle this question themselves, as urged by the majority of witnesses who appeared before them. It seems to them to go deep into the social system and susceptibilities of India, and, therefore, to be a question which can only, with any prudence, be settled in accordance with the wishes of Indians themselves as constitutionally expressed.

(f) The

Report of the Joint Select Committee on the Government of India Bill.

- (f) The Committee are of opinion that the franchise as settled by the rules to be made under this Act should not be altered for the first ten years, and that it should at present be outside the power of the Legislative Councils to make any alteration in the franchise. The recommendation, therefore, in respect of woman suffrage, is to be regarded as altogether exceptional, and as not forming any precedent in respect of proposals for other alterations.
- (g) The special representation of landholders in the provinces should be reconsidered by the Government of India in consultation with the local governments.
- (h) The franchise for the University seats should be extended to all graduates of over seven years' standing.
- (i) The Government of India should be instructed to consult with the Government of Bengal in respect of the representation of Europeans in Bengal. It appears to the Committee that there are good reasons for a readjustment of that representation. The recommendations of the report of the Franchise Committee in respect of European representation in other provinces may be accepted.
- (j) The question whether the rulers and subjects of Indian States may be registered as electors or may be elected to the legislative councils should be left to be settled in each case by the local government of the province.
- (k) The Committee are of opinion that dismissal from the service of the Government in India should not be a disqualification for election, but that a criminal conviction entailing a sentence of more than than six months' imprisonment should be a disqualification for five years from the date of the expiration of the sentence.

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on the

- (l) The compromise suggested by the Franchise Committee in respect of the residential qualification of candidates for legislative councils whereby the restriction was to be imposed only in the provinces of Bombay, the Punjab, and the Central Provinces may be accepted.
- (m) The recommendations of the Franchise Committee in respect of the proportionate representations of Mohammedans, based on the Lucknow compact, may be accepted.

Two further observations must be made on this question of franchise. It seems to the Committee that the principle of proportional representation may be found to be particularly applicable to the circumstances of India, and they recommend that this suggestion be fully explored, so that there may be material for consideration by the Statutory Commission when it sits at the end of ten years. Further it has been strongly represented to the Committee, and the Committee are themselves firmly convinced, that a complete and stringent Corrupt Practices Act should be passed and brought into operation before the first elections for the legislative councils. There is no such Act at present in existence in India, and the Committee are convinced that it will not be less required in India than it is in other countries.

Clause 9.—The Committee have considered carefully the question who is to preside over the legislative councils in the provinces. They are of opinion that the Governor should not preside, and they advise that, for a period of four years, the President should be appointed by the Governor. Wherever possible it would be a great advantage if someone

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on the

someone could be found for this purpose who had had parliamentary experience. The legislative council should itself elect a Vice-President, and at the end of four years the nominated President would disappear, and the President and Vice-President would be elected by the councils. The Committee attribute the greatest importance to this question of the Presidency of the legislative council. It will, in their opinion, conduce very greatly to the successful working of the new councils if they are imbued from the commencement with the spirit and conventions of parliamentary procedure as developed in the Imperial Parliament. The Committee will recur to this subject in dealing with the question of the President of the Legislative Assembly of India.

Clause 11.—The Committee think that the provincial budget should be submitted to the vote of the legislative council, subject to the exemption from this process of certain charges of a special or recurring character which have been set out in the Bill. In cases where the council alter the provision for a transferred subject, the Committee consider that the Governor would be justified, if so advised by his ministers, in re-submitting the provision to the council for a review of their former decision; but they do not apprehend that any statutory prescription to that effect is required. Where the council have reduced a provision for a reserved subject which the Governor considers essential to the proper administration of the subject concerned, he will have a power of restoration. The Committee wish it to be perfectly clear that this power is real and that its exercise should not be regarded as unusual or arbitrary; unless the Governor has the right to secure supply for those services for which he remains responsible to Parliament, that responsibility cannot justly be fastened upon him.

Whenever the necessity for new taxation arises, as arise it must, the questions involved should be threshed out by both parts of the Government in consultation together, and it is especially important that

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on the

that in this matter both parts of the Government should, if possible, be in agreement when the proposals of the Government are laid before the legislature.

Clause 13.—The Committee have rejected the plan of Grand Committees as drafted originally in the Bill. They have done so because in their opinion the Grand Committee did not give the Governor the power of securing legislation in a crisis in respect of those matters for which he is held responsible, and because in respect of ordinary legislation about reserved subjects it perpetuated the system of securing legislation by what is known as the “official bloc,” which has been the cause of great friction and heartburning. The responsibility for legislation on reserved subjects is with the Governor in Council, and, when the “official bloc” has been put into operation, it has been put into operation by him, and is merely an indirect way of asserting his responsibility. The Committee think it much better that there should be no attempt to conceal the fact that the responsibility is with the Governor in Council, and they recommend a process by which the Governor should be empowered to pass an Act in respect of any reserved subject, if he considers that the Act is necessary for the proper fulfilment of his responsibility to Parliament. He should not do so until he has given every opportunity for the matter to be thoroughly discussed in the legislative council, and as a sensible man he should, of course, endeavour to carry the legislative council with him in the matter by the strength of his case. But, if he finds that cannot be so, then he should have the power to proceed on his own responsibility. Acts passed on his sole responsibility should be reserved by the Governor-General for His Majesty’s pleasure, and be laid before Parliament. His Majesty will necessarily be advised by the Secretary of State for India, and the responsibility for the advice to be given to His Majesty can only rest with the Secretary of State. But the Committee suggest that the

Standing

Report of the Joint Select Committee on the Government of India Bill.

Standing Committee of Parliament, whose appointment they have advised, should be specially consulted about Acts of this character. Provision, however, is made in the Bill for the avoidance of delay in case of a grave emergency by giving the Governor-General power to assent to the Act without reserving it, though this of course would not prevent subsequent disallowance by His Majesty in Council.

Clause 15.—The Committee have two observations to make on the working of this Clause. On the one hand, they do not think that any change in the boundaries of a province should be made without due consideration of the views of the legislative council of the province. On the other hand, they are of opinion that any clear request made by a majority of the members of a legislative council representing a distinctive racial or linguistic territorial unit for its constitution under this Clause as a sub-province or a separate province should be taken as a prima facie case on the strength of which a commission of inquiry might be appointed by the Secretary of State, and that it should not be a bar to the appointment of such a commission of inquiry that the majority of the legislative council of the province in question is opposed to the request of the minority representing such a distinctive territorial unit.

PART II.

Clause 18.—As will be explained below, the Committee do not accept the device, in the Bill as drafted, of carrying government measures through the Council of State without reference to the Legislative Assembly, in cases where the latter body cannot be got to assent to a law which the Governor-General considers essential. Under the scheme which the Committee propose to substitute for this procedure, there is no necessity to retain the Council of State as an organ for government legislation. It should therefore be reconstituted from the commencement as a true Second Chamber. They recommend that it should consist of sixty members, of whom not more than twenty should be official members. The Franchise Committee advise that the non-official members should be elected by the same group of persons as elect the members of the Legislative Assembly and in the same constituencies. This is a plan which the Committee could, in no circumstances, accept. They hope and believe that a different system of election for the Council of State can be devised by the time the constitution embodied in this Bill comes into operation, and they recommend that the Government of India be enjoined forthwith to make suggestions accordingly, to which effect can be given without delaying the inauguration of the new constitution. If the advice of the Committee that it be re-appointed for the purpose of considering the rules to be framed under this Bill be approved, it should have an opportunity of considering the proposals made for the election of the Council of State.

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on the

Clause 19.—For the Legislative Assembly the Committee are equally unwilling to accept, as a permanent arrangement, the method of indirect election proposed in the report of the Franchise Committee. If by no other course it were possible to avoid delay in bringing the constitution enacted by the Bill into operation, the Committee would acquiesce in that method for a preliminary period of three years. But they are not convinced that delay would be involved in preparing a better scheme of election, and they endorse the views expressed by the Government of India in paragraph 39 of its despatch dealing with the subject. They accordingly advise that the Government of India be instructed at once to make recommendations to this effect at the earliest possible moment. These recommendations as embodied in draft rules would also be subject to examination by this Committee if re-appointed.

Clause 20.

Report of the Joint Select Committee on the Government of India Bill.

Clause 20.—The Committee think that the President of the Legislative Assembly should for four years be a person appointed by the Governor-General. He should be qualified by experience in the House of Commons and a knowledge of Parliamentary procedure, precedents, and conventions. He should be the guide and adviser of the Presidents of the provincial councils, and he should be chosen with a view to the influence which it is hoped he would have on the whole history of Parliamentary procedure in India. He should be paid an adequate salary.

Clause 25.—This is a new provision for the submission of the Indian Budget to the vote of the Legislative Assembly, on the understanding that this body is constituted as a chamber reasonably representative in character and elected directly by suitable constituencies. The Committee consider it necessary (as suggested to them by the consolidated fund charges in the Imperial Parliament) to exempt certain charges of a special or recurring nature, which have been set out in the Bill, e.g., the cost of defence, the debt charges and certain fixed salaries, from the process of being voted. But otherwise they would leave the Assembly free to criticise and vote the estimates of expenditure of the Government of India. It is not, however, within the scheme of the Bill to introduce at the present stage any measure of responsible government into the central administration, and a power must be reserved to the Governor-General in Council of treating as sanctioned any expenditure which the Assembly may have refused to vote if he considers the expenditure to be necessary for the fulfilment of his responsibilities for the good government of the country. It should be understood from the beginning that this power of the Governor-General in Council is real, and that it is meant to be used if and when necessary.

Clause 26.—For reasons which prompted their rejection of the process of certification by a Governor

Report of the Joint Select Committee on the Government of India Bill.

Governor to a grand committee in a province, the Committee are opposed to the proposals in the Bill which would have enabled the Governor-General to refer to the Council of State, and to obtain by virtue of his official majority in that body, any legislation which the lower chamber refuse to accept, but which he regards as essential to the discharge of his duties. The Committee have no hesitation in accepting the view that the Governor-General in Council should in all circumstances be fully empowered to secure legislation which is required for the discharge of his responsibilities; but they think it is unworthy that such responsibility should be concealed through the action of a Council of State specially devised in its composition to secure the necessary powers. They believe that in such a case it would add strength to the Government of India to act before the world on its own responsibility. In order, however, that Parliament may be fully apprised of the position and of the considerations which led to this exceptional procedure, they advise that all Acts passed in this manner should be laid before Parliament, who would naturally consider the opinion of the standing committee already referred to.

Clause 28.—The recommendation of the Committee is that the present limitation on the number of the members of the Governor-General's Executive Council should be removed, that three members of that Council should continue to be public servants or ex-public servants who have had not less than ten years' experience in the service of the Crown in India; that one member of the Council should have definite legal qualifications, but that those qualifications may be gained in India as well as in the United Kingdom; and that not less than three members of the Council should be Indians. In this connection it must be borne in mind that the members of the Council drawn from the ranks of the public servants will, as time goes on, be more and more likely to be of Indian rather than of European extraction.

Clause 29.

Report of the Joint Select Committee on the Government of India Bill.

Clause 29.—The Committee have inserted this provision to allow of the selection of members of the legislature who will be able to undertake duties similar to those of the Parliamentary Under-Secretaries in this country. It should be entirely at the discretion of the Governor-General to say to which departments these officers should be attached, and to define the scope of their duties.

PART III.

Clause 30.—The Committee think that all charges of the India Office, not being “agency” charges, should be paid out of moneys to be provided by Parliament.

Clause 31.—The Committee are not in favour of the abolition of the Council of India. They think that, at any rate for some time to come, it will be absolutely necessary that the Secretary of State should be advised by persons of Indian experience, and they are convinced that, if no such Council existed, the Secretary of State would have to form an informal one if not a formal one. Therefore, they think it much better to continue a body which has all the advantages behind it of tradition and authority, although they would not debar the readjustment of its work so as to make it possible to introduce what is known as the portfolio system. They think, also, that its constitution may advantageously be modified by the introduction of more Indians into it and by shortening of the period of the service upon it, in order to ensure a continuous flow of fresh experience from India and to relieve Indian members from the necessity of spending so long a period as seven years in England.

Clause 33.—The Committee have given most careful consideration to the relations of the Secretary of State with the Government of India, and through it with the provincial governments. In the relations of the Secretary of State with the Governor-General in Council the Committee are not

not of opinion that any statutory change can be made, so long as the Governor-General remains responsible to Parliament, but in practice the conventions which now govern these relations may wisely be modified to meet fresh circumstances caused by the creation of a Legislative Assembly with a large elected majority. In the exercise of his responsibility to Parliament, which he cannot delegate to any one else, the Secretary of State may reasonably consider that only in exceptional circumstances should he be called upon to intervene in matters of purely Indian interest where the Government and the Legislature of India are in agreement.

This examination of the general proposition leads inevitably to the consideration of one special case of non-intervention. Nothing is more likely to endanger the good relations between India and Great Britain than a belief that India's fiscal policy is dictated from Whitehall in the interests of the trade of Great Britain. That such a belief exists at the moment there can be no doubt. That there ought to be no room for it in the future is equally clear. India's position in the Imperial Conference opened the door to negotiation between India and the rest of the Empire, but negotiation without power to legislate is likely to remain ineffective. A satisfactory solution of the question can only be guaranteed by the grant of liberty to the Government of India to devise those tariff arrangements which seem best fitted to India's needs as an integral portion of the British Empire. It cannot be guaranteed by statute without limiting the ultimate power of Parliament to control the administration of India, and without limiting the power of veto which rests in the Crown; and neither of these limitations finds a place in any of the statutes in the British Empire. It can only therefore be assured by an acknowledgment of a convention. Whatever be the right fiscal policy for India, for the needs of her consumers as well as for her manufacturers, it is quite clear that she should have the same liberty to

to consider her interests as Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Canada and South Africa. In the opinion of the Committee, therefore, the Secretary of State should as far as possible avoid interference on this subject when the Government of India and its Legislature are in agreement, and they think that his intervention, when it does take place, should be limited to safeguarding the international obligations of the Empire or any fiscal arrangements within the Empire to which His Majesty's Government is a party.

The relations of the Secretary of State and of the Government of India with provincial governments should, in the Committee's judgment, be regulated by similar principles, so far as the reserved subjects are concerned. It follows, therefore, that in purely provincial matters, which are reserved, where the provincial government and legislature are in agreement, their view should ordinarily be allowed to prevail, though it is necessary to bear in mind the fact that some reserved subjects do cover matters in which the central government is closely concerned. Over transferred subjects, on the other hand, the control of the Governor-General in Council, and thus of the Secretary of State, should be restricted in future within the narrowest possible limits, which will be defined by rules under sub-clause 3 of Clause 1 of the Bill.

Rules under this clause will be subsidiary legislation of sufficient moment to justify their being brought especially to the notice of Parliament. The Secretary of State might conveniently discuss them with the Standing Committee whose creation has been recommended in this Report; and Parliament would no doubt consider the opinion of this body when the rules come, as it is proposed that they should do, for acceptance by positive resolution in both Houses. The same procedure is recommended by the Committee for adoption in the case of rules of special or novel importance under other clauses of the Bill. It must be for the Secretary of State to decide decide which of the many rules that will fall to be drafted by the Government of India can be sufficiently dealt with by the ordinary process of lying on the table of Parliament for a certain number of days. In deciding this point, however, he may naturally have recourse to the advice of the Standing Committee, should it happen to be in session, and obtain their assistance in determining which rules deserved to be made the subject of the more formal procedure by positive resolution.

Clause 35.—This clause carries out the recommendation of Lord Crewe's Committee to appoint a High Commissioner for India, to be paid out of Indian revenues, who will perform for India functions of agency, as distinguished from political functions, analogous to those now performed in the offices of the High Commissioners of the Dominions.

PART IV.

Clause 36.—The Committee do not conceal from themselves that the position of the public services in working the new constitutions in the provinces will, in certain circumstances, be difficult. They are of opinion that these services have deserved the admiration and gratitude of the whole Empire. They know that some members of the services regard the wisdom of the proposed changes with grave misgiving, and that some fear that those changes will not tend to the welfare of the Indian masses. They are convinced, however, that the services will accept the changing conditions and the inevitable alteration in their own position, and devote themselves in all loyalty to making a success, so far as in them lies, of the new constitution.

In the provinces, officers serving in a reserved department will be controlled by the Governor in Council, and in a transferred department by the Governor acting with ministers, but in both cases alike the personal concurrence of the Governor should be regarded as essential in the case of all orders orders of any importance prejudicially affecting the position or prospects of officers appointed by the Secretary of State.

The Committee think that every precaution should be taken to secure to the public servants the career in life to which they looked forward when they were recruited, and they have introduced fresh provisions into this clause to that end. If friction occurs, a re-adjustment of persons and places may often get over the difficulty, and the Governor must always regard it as one of his most important duties to establish a complete understanding between his ministers and the officers through whom they will have to work. But if there are members of the service whose doubts as to the changes to be made are so deeply-rooted that they feel they cannot usefully endeavour to take part in them, then the Committee think it would only be fair to those officers that they should be offered an equivalent career elsewhere, if it is in the power of His Majesty's Government to do so, or, in the last resort, that they should be allowed to retire on such pension as the Secretary of State in Council may consider suitable to their period of service.

PART V.

Clause 41.—The Committee are of opinion that the Statutory Commission should not be appointed until the expiration of ten years, and that no changes of substance in the constitution, whether in the franchise or in the lists of reserved and transferred subjects or otherwise, should be made in the interval. The Commission will be fully empowered to examine the working of the constitutions in all their details in the provinces, and to advise whether the time has come for full responsible government in each province, or in the alternative whether and to what extent the powers of self-government already granted should be extended, or modified, or restricted. It should be clearly understood, also, that the Commission should be empowered to examine into the working working of the Government of India and to advise in respect of the Government of India no less than in respect of the provincial governments.

8. This concludes the Committee's specific recommendations on the Bill. There remain certain other topics which do not conveniently fall within any particular clause. The first of these is the treatment of Burma, and after hearing evidence the Committee have not advised that Burma should be included within the scheme. They do not doubt but that the Burmese have deserved and should receive a constitution analogous to that provided in this Bill for their Indian fellow-subjects. But Burma is only by accident part of the responsibility of the Governor-General of India. The Burmese are as distinct from the Indians in race and language as they are from the British.

9. Doubts have been expressed from several quarters questioning the financial adjustment proposed between the Central and Provincial Governments in India. Without expressing any opinion on this controversy, the Committee accept and endorse the recommendation of the Government of India that a fully qualified financial commission should be appointed to advise as to the principle on which contributions from the provincial governments to the Central Government should in future be adjusted.

10. The Committee think that it may often greatly assist the political education of India if standing committees of the legislative bodies are attached to certain departments of Government, but they only express this opinion on the understanding that the appointment of such committees, their composition, and the regulations which govern their procedure, shall be matters wholly and exclusively within the discretion of the Governor-General or of the Governor as the case may be.

11. The Committee are impressed by the objections raised by many witnesses to the manner in which

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on the

which certain classes of taxation can be laid upon the people of India by executive action without, in some cases, any statutory limitation of the rates and, in other cases, any adequate prescription by statute of the methods of assessment. They consider that the imposition of new burdens should be gradually brought more within the purview of the Legislature. And in particular, without expressing any judgment on the question whether the land revenue is a rent or tax, they advise that the process of revising the land revenue assessments ought to be brought under closer regulation by statute as soon as possible. At present the statutory basis for charging revenue on the land varies in different provinces; but in some at least the pitch of assessment is entirely at the discretion of the executive government. No branch of the administration is regulated with greater elaboration or care; but the people who are most affected have no voice in the shaping of the system, and the rules are often obscure and imperfectly understood by those who pay the revenue. The Committee are of opinion that the time has come to embody in the law the main principles by which the land revenue is determined, the methods of valuation, the pitch of assessment, the periods of revision, the graduation of enhancements, and the other chief processes which touch the well-being of the revenue payers. The subject is one which probably would not be transferred to ministers until the electorate included a satisfactory representation of rural interests, those of the tenantry as well as of the landlords; and the system should be established on a clear statutory basis before this change takes place.

12. The Committee have not hitherto touched on the subject of education in India, and it is far too large for them to make any attempt to deal with it adequately. They have accepted the recommendation of the Functions Committee that, subject to certain reservations about the Universities, the responsibility for the whole field of education in each province should be transferred to ministers. They

Government of India Bill.*

attach much importance, however, to the educational advancement of the depressed and backward classes, and they trust that the subject will receive special attention from ministers. They are also impressed by the advantage of Board such as Sir Michael Sadler has advised in Bengal, for the assistance of ministers in controlling the different grades of education, and they trust that ministers will see their way from the outset to constitute such Boards in every province. The Committee would similarly commend to ministers the advisability of creating local government departments in the provinces.

13. The Committee attach the greatest importance to the formation in each provincial government of a strong department of Finance which will serve both sides of the Government alike.

14. The Committee have been greatly struck by the earnest representations made to them by several witnesses, both of British and Indian birth, to the effect that the Government of India and the provincial governments must become more vocal, and put forth their view of what the good of India requires with more courage and more persistence than they have in the past. It has been represented to them that it will be of the utmost importance in the future that the Government of India and the provincial governments should have means of explaining to the people of India the reasons why things are done, the reasons which underlie decisions, and the arguments against proposals which they consider will be detrimental to the welfare of the country. It was represented to the Committee that at present, to a great extent, the case for the policy of the Government of India and of the provincial governments is unknown to the masses of Indians, whereas the case against that policy is becoming every day more widely disseminated by means of the vernacular press. They are glad to think that this opinion is also shared by the Secretary of State for India and the Viceroy. It is dealt with in paragraph 326 of their report on Indian Constitutional Reforms.

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on the

15. In conclusion the Committee emphatically repudiate the suggestion that the changes in this Bill in the form of the provincial governments of India imply any condemnation of the present system of government in India. The Government of India has accomplished great things for India's good and one of its greatest services has been the introduction into India of a reign of law, to which the Government itself is as much subject as the people it governs. It is no reproach to it that in form it has been everywhere autocratic. So long as Parliament on the one hand did not bestow any form of constitutional self-government on any part of India, and on the other hand held the Government of India rigidly responsible to itself for its every action, it could not be otherwise in the provinces any more than at the central seat of government. But, whatever the form, the spirit of its being everywhere and always has been effort for the welfare of the masses of the people of India.

16. The Committee have directed the Minutes of Proceedings, together with Appendices, to be laid before both Houses of Parliament.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT, 1919.

(9 and 10 Geo. 5, Ch. 101.)

An Act to make further provision with respect to the Government of India,

[23rd December, 1919.]

WHEREAS it is the declared policy of Parliament to provide for the increasing association of Indians in every branch of Indian Administration, and for the gradual development of Self-Governing institutions, with a view to the progressive realisation of responsible government in British India as an integral part of the empire :

And whereas progress in giving effect to this policy can only be achieved by successive stages, and it is expedient that substantial steps in this direction should now be taken :

And whereas the time and manner of each advance can be determined only by Parliament, upon whom responsibility lies for the welfare and advancement of the Indian peoples :

And whereas the action of Parliament in such matters must be guided by the co-operation received from those on whom new opportunities of service will be conferred, and by the extent to which it is found that confidence can be reposed in their sense of responsibility :

And whereas concurrently with the gradual development of self-governing institutions in the Provinces of India it is expedient to give to those Provinces in provincial matters the largest measure of independence of the Government of India, which is

is compatible with the due discharge by the latter of its own responsibilities :

FIRST REPORT FROM THE SELECT COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO JOIN WITH A COMMITTEE OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TO REVISE THE DRAFT RULES MADE UNDER THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT.

ORDERED TO REPORT—

That the Committee have met and concluded their consideration of those of the draft rules¹ framed by the Government of India to give effect to the provisions of the Government of India Act, 1919, which relate to the composition of and elections to the new Legislative Councils and to the regulation of their procedure. The enactment of these rules is a matter of urgency, and the Committee have reserved for a separate report² their observations on the remaining rules under the Act.

PART I.—GENERAL.

1. The Committee desire in the forefront of their Report to express their appreciation of the great care and ability which are displayed in the drafts, and of the remarkable expedition with which this heavy task has been achieved by the Government of India and the Local Governments. As will be seen from the Report the Committee have made but few alterations in the rules as drafted by the authorities in India, and they desire to record their considered opinion that the rules, with these few alterations, are an accurate, but at the same time liberal, interpretation both of the general recommendations contained in their Report on the Bill and of the intentions of Parliament in framing the Act.

2. The Committee have taken no further oral evidence in connection with these rules, but they have had before them many communications forwarded by various individuals and associations interested in the subject, and have taken them into their consideration. They were placed so fully into possession of all classes of opinion on the general principles

principles at issue in their consideration of the Bill, that the hearing of further evidence on the matters arising out of the rules would have served no useful purpose, more especially as the rules so largely represent the conclusions on the main points of principle which the Committee themselves put forward in their Report on the Bill, and on which their views remained unchanged; for the drafting of these rules, though it raised broad issues of great importance, is, in the main, a matter of detail, and the Committee are satisfied that in the working out of these details the Local Governments and the Government of India have omitted consideration of no claim, interest or argument which was relevant to a decision.

3. The Committee consider it unnecessary to explain at length or in detail the scope or substance of the rules generally, which to a large extent are based, as they have already observed, upon recommendations made in their Report on the Bill. Their remarks will be confined to an explanation of the changes which they have made in the rules as drafted by the Government of India, and to a brief statement of the reasons for them. The Committee understand that the draft rules as provisionally presented to Parliament have been reprinted as amended by themselves, with the addition of a number of amendments (chiefly of a technical nature) recommended by the Government of India since the drafts were framed, and they recommend that the drafts in this revised form should receive the assent of Parliament at the earliest possible date, in order that arrangements for holding elections to the new Council may be set in train in due time.

PART II.—ELECTORAL RULES FOR PROVINCIAL COUNCILS.¹

4. Reservation of Seats for non-Brahmans in Madras and Mahrattas in Bombay.—The communities concerned having failed to arrive at agreement

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on Draft Rules

ment by mutual consent, this question was remitted in accordance with the Committee's recommendation to arbitration by independent persons appointed by the Government of India. The awards of the arbitrators have been embodied in the rules. The Committee recognise (as was inevitable from the nature of the conflicting claims made) that these awards have not satisfied all parties, but they consider that the awards are in substance eminently reasonable, and they attach importance to the recognition of the principle that the award of an arbitrator must be treated as final. They would have greatly preferred for this reason to leave the awards unchanged, but they have felt it impossible to disregard the considered opinion of the Bombay Government that in one respect the Mahratta award should be amended, namely, the proposed reservation for Mahrattas of one of the two seats assigned to a Non-Muhammadan constituency described as Bombay City South. The Bombay Government do not regard the Mahrattas in this constituency as sufficiently numerous to justify the allocation to that community of one of these two seats, and fear that the effect of reservation in this constituency will inevitably be to prejudice the chances of the important and influential Parsi community in Bombay City. The Committee have decided therefore to omit this one seat from the list of eight seats proposed for reservation in the Bombay Presidency, thereby reducing the number of reserved seats to seven. In other respects they uphold the awards in both cases.

5. The Committee have further considered the method proposed by the Government of India for working the reservation of seats, and the objections advanced—particularly by Madras Non-Brahmans—against this proposal. They endorse the proposals of the Government of India. The Committee's intention in recommending the reservation of seats for the Non-Brahman and Mahratta communities was to ensure that (granted sufficient candidates were forthcoming

forthcoming) there should be at least as many Non-Brahman (or Mahratta) representatives returned by a constituency as there were seats reserved. The claim advanced by Non-Brahmans that, should a Non-Brahman head the poll in a two-member constituency in which one seat is reserved, the "reserved" seat should remain reserved for a second Non-Brahman, and that the latter should be elected to it in preference to a Brahman candidate who was second in the poll, is entirely inconsistent with the Committee's intentions.

6. Representation of Wage-Earners.—In response to the Committee's recommendation that an effort should be made to secure the better representation of the wage-earning classes, the Government of India in drafting the rules included provision for the creation of a special constituency in Calcutta consisting of workers in factories in receipt of wages between Rs. 25 and Rs. 35 a month, and in Bombay City, for the enfranchisement in the ordinary City Constituencies of workers in textile factories in receipt of a monthly wage of not less than Rs. 40 a month. It was estimated that these measures would have enfranchised some 40,000 workers in all. The Committee have given their best consideration to the observations of the Government of India and of the Bombay and Bengal Governments on these proposals. They agree with these authorities that in the present state of labour organisation in India no other scheme than that presented for their consideration would in practice be workable, but that an extension of this scheme to other localities would be impracticable. They further agree that the proposals as they stand represent a very incomplete and, in theory, wholly indefensible solution of the problem, and they cannot disguise from themselves the danger that even this limited experiment would result in an administrative breakdown. They feel, moreover, no assurance that it would result in securing for labour the best and most useful representatives available. They have decided therefore without hesitation, though with some regret, that it would be impolitic to persist in an experiment which those best qualified to judge regard with considerable misgivings, and they have therefore added to the list of seats to be filled by nomination on the Bengal Legislative Council the two seats which it was proposed to assign to a labour constituency, and have provided that the persons to be nominated to fill these seats shall be chosen as representing labour interests. The scheme for the Bombay Council already provided a nominated seat to be allotted to a labour representative. The abandonment of the proposal, therefore, to enfranchise wage-earners in the Bombay City constituencies necessitates no change in the distribution of seats, since there is no certainty that a labour vote in Bombay City would have secured the return of a candidate specially qualified to represent that interest.

In arriving at this decision the Committee share the belief of the Government of India that the steady rise in prosperity of manual workers in India, and the rapid improvement of their housing conditions, will automatically and without undue delay result in qualifying the great majority of their numbers for an ordinary vote in the ordinary constituencies. No other solution than this could be regarded as satisfactory.

7. Restrictions on Candidature.—The rules as drafted by the Government of India require that candidates for “general” constituencies shall be registered as electors in a general constituency. In some provinces the candidate must be registered as an elector in the constituency for which he proposes to stand. In others he must, if not registered as an elector in that constituency, be registered in another of the same communal description as that for which he proposes to stand. The Committee recognise the force of the arguments in favour of securing some real connection with, and knowledge of his constituency on the part of a candidate, and also that it is a logical corollary on the system of communal representation that the candidate should be of the same community as those whose interests he seeks to voice. But so long as these two conditions are fulfilled in those provinces to which importance is attached to them, the Committee see no reason to exclude from candidature for general constituencies those who are registered as electors in special constituencies. They recommend therefore that any person who is registered as an elector in any constituency in his province should, subject in certain cases to fulfilment of residential and communal tests, be eligible to be elected by any general constituency. They have re-drafted the Rule (6) for each Council accordingly, and in doing so have given effect to the desire expressed by the Government of Bihar and Orissa, since the draft rules were originally framed, that the communal test should apply in that province also, as in all others with the exceptions of the United Provinces and Assam.

8. Rules Relating to Corrupt Practices.—The Committee endorse these rules as in the main a satisfactory fulfilment of the policy they recommended in their Report on the Bill, and they note that the Government of India intend to introduce in the next session of their Legislature the Bill which is required to supplement their provisions. In four respects they have made changes in these rules.

- (a) While agreeing with the Government of India that it is impracticable at the outset in the absence of any data to lay down a limit to election expenditure by candidates which would work fairly and adequately in every constituency with their very varied conditions, they think that the absence of such limits cannot remain a permanent feature of the rules, and that limits can and should be laid down as the result of experience gained at the first elections. They have accordingly added a rule giving power to the Governor-General

made under the Government of India Act.*

General in Council to prescribe limits after the first election, and have made, by a consequential addition to the list in Schedule IV, the non-observance of limits so laid down a "corrupt practice," commission of which will render an election void.

- (b) The Committee have supplied an omission which in their view rendered the Government of India's draft defective, by including as a "corrupt practice" the employment of paid canvassers in excess of a maximum which they trust will be rigidly limited.
- (c) The Committee have redrafted Rule 2 of Schedule IV, Part I of the rules, in a manner which accords more closely than the original draft with the terms of the English law.
- (d) A slight change has been made in Rule 32, rendering ex-Judges of High Courts eligible to be appointed Commissioners to inquire into disputed elections and thereby extending the field of choice.

9. The second proviso to Rule 7 for all Councils carries out the recommendation of the Committee in connection with the Bill relating to Women's Franchise. Without in any way modifying their views on this subject, the Committee think it essential that a constitutional change of this importance should be effected only as the result of a genuine and considered opinion of the majority of the Council, and they have therefore provided that before a resolution on the subject can be moved, the mover must give not less than one month's notice of his intention to move.

10. The Committee are glad to observe that the rules in a few selected constituencies contain provision for election by the system of proportional representation. They do not question the decision of the Government of India that a wider extension of the

made under the Government of India Act.*

the system is at the outset impracticable, but they think it possible that experience may show that an extension is both feasible and desirable before the next revision of these Rules as the result of the Parliamentary Commission contemplated by the Act. They have therefore added a provision to Rule 13 for all Councils enabling (but not requiring) a Local Government to extend the system if a resolution (safeguarded in the same manner as in the case of Women's Franchise) is carried in the Council recommending an extension.

11. A change has been made in the definition of "European" throughout the rules, which gives the word a somewhat less restricted meaning.

12. This concludes the list of changes in rules affecting all Councils. The following changes relate only to the provinces mentioned:—

(a) Madras and Assam.—Rule 3 (3) (b).—The Committee have added words at the end of this rule, enabling (but not requiring) the Governor to make rules in accordance with which the communities specified in the rule as to be represented by nomination may select persons from whom the Governor may make his choice. A similar provision was made in the Indian Councils Act of 1892, which may be said to have initiated the process of election to legislatures in India, and the Committee think that such a provision, if the Governor finds it possible to act upon it, may pave the way for election proper by educating backward communities in the advantages and responsibilities it involves.

(b) Rule 4 (Madras).—A formal change has been made in this rule.

(c) Bengal.—The Bengal Government have agreed to the splitting up of many of the plural member constituencies proposed for for that province into single member constituencies, with a view to securing smaller areas and closer contact between voters and candidates, and to the renaming of certain constituencies so as to avoid the use of letters of the alphabet. Schedule 1 for this province has been amended accordingly.

- (d) European and Anglo-Indian representation on the Bengal Council.—While fully conscious of the importance of the interests of the non-official European Community in Bengal generally and particularly in Calcutta, and of the necessity for allowing adequate representation to the Community on the new Legislature, the Committee are inclined to think the proposal to allot so many as 21 elected seats to Europeans and Anglo-Indians out of a total of 115 elected seats is excessive. The Franchise Committee proposed 15 seats for Europeans and Anglo-Indians out of a total of 100 elected seats. It appears to the Committee that this is a reasonable proportion and that an allotment of 18 seats to these communities on the larger Council now contemplated should amply satisfy all requirements. They have accordingly reduced the 3 seats proposed for Anglo-Indians to 2, the 4 seats proposed for the European Constituency consisting of the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions to 3, and the two seats proposed for the Calcutta Trades Associations to 1. In allocating the 3 seats thus obtained they have adopted the suggestion of the Government of India, namely, that one seat should be added to each of the three following constituencies: the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce, the Hooghly-Howrah Non-Muhammadan

made under the Government of India Act.*

Non-Muhammadan Constituency, and the Rangpur Non-Muhammadan Constituency.

(e) Rule III for all provinces other than Madras, Bombay, and Bengal.—A formal change has been made in this rule for all provinces other than the three Presidencies, which leaves the number of members of the Executive Council unspecified.

(f) Punjab.—The Committee have thought it desirable to increase slightly the number of seats proposed to be allotted to the Punjab Legislative Council with two objects, firstly, to increase the representation of the Sikh community, and, secondly, to provide separate representation for the cities of Lahore and Amritsar. For these purposes the Committee, after consulting the Government of India and the Punjab Government, have provided six additional seats, two of which will be allotted to Sikhs, one to Hindus, and three to Muhammadans, this latter number being required in order to preserve the proportions laid down by the Lucknow Compact. There will now be two separate constituencies for each of the cities of Lahore and Amritsar, each returning two members, and the Sikhs inhabiting urban areas will return a member separate from those inhabiting rural areas.

The reasons which have led the Committee to make these changes are their desire to accord as favourable treatment as is possible to the claims which have been advanced on behalf of the Sikhs, to correct the position, which they feel to be anomalous, that the capital city of the province, and a city of such importance as Amritsar, should lack separate representation, and also because they consider that the strength of the Punjab Council can with advantage be approximated more nearly to that of the Councils of the other major provinces.

PART III.—ELECTORAL RULES FOR THE INDIAN LEGISLATURE.¹

13. Restrictions on Candidature.—In the case of the Legislative Assembly, the Committee have made the same alteration in Rule 6, which regulates the conditions of candidature, as they have made for the provincial legislature so as to render eligible for election by a general constituency in any province any person who is registered as an elector in any constituency in that province (whether “general” or “special”) prescribed for the provincial legislature. But they think it unnecessary to maintain for either chamber of the Central Legislature any residential restriction other than residence within the province. The arguments in favour of residential restrictions for the Provincial Legislature do not, it appears to them, apply to the central body. In the latter, what is required primarily is representation of provincial interests as a whole, and not, as in the provincial Councils, representation of the interests of particular areas of a province.

The Committee’s re-draft of Rule 6 for the Council of State differs in form from that for the Legislative Assembly, but the effect will be the same in both cases—namely, to require only that a candidate shall be a resident of his province.

14. Corrupt Practices.—Women’s Franchise and Proportional Representation.—Changes have been made in the rules for the Indian Legislature similar to those described in paragraphs 8, 9 and 10. But with regard to women’s franchise the Committee have thought it desirable to safeguard their original intention that the decision of this question for each province ¹These rules have been published separately.

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on Draft Rules

province should rest with the provincial legislature, and they have accordingly provided that a resolution by either Chamber of the Indian Legislature in favour of enfranchising women as voters for that Chamber shall have effect in a province only if the province has itself already taken this step for its own Council.

15. Representation of Delhi.—The Committee felt great difficulty in agreeing to the proposal of the Government of India that the Province of Delhi should be represented on the Legislative Assembly by means of occasional nomination. They realise that it is impossible to allot seats on the Assembly to all the minor provinces, but they think that there are two circumstances which give Delhi peculiar claims. In the first place, Delhi is now the capital of India, and, apart from that, holds a very important position amongst the cities of Upper India by reason of its commercial interests. In the second place, the constitution of the area contained in the city and neighbourhood of Delhi as a separate province has necessarily involved the loss by its inhabitants of representation on any provincial Council. It is impossible to provide such representation now on the Punjab Provincial Council, and the Committee recommend, in view of all circumstances, that the proposal of the Franchise Committee should be adopted, and that an elective seat should be added to the Legislative Assembly, to be filled by a constituency consisting of the inhabitants of the Delhi Province with the requisite qualifications. They have, therefore, embodied in the rules detailed amendments with which they have been furnished by the Government of India in order to give effect to these recommendations.

16. A formal change has been made in Rule 3 for the Legislative Assembly in order to bring its provisions into conformity with section 19 (2)¹ of the Act of 1919.

PART IV.

PART IV.—RULES FOR THE CONDUCT OF LEGISLATIVE BUSINESS IN PROVINCIAL COUNCILS AND THE INDIAN LEGISLATURE.¹

17. These rules will be supplemented in matters of detail by Standing Orders which the legislatures themselves will have power to alter. The Committee have concerned themselves only with the rules under section 11 (5)² of the Act which require the approval of Parliament and once framed will not be alterable without such approval.

The Committee think it desirable that a Governor's intervention in the proceedings of his Legislative Council should be confined to cases in which control by the executive (which for these purposes the Governor must represent) is essential, having regard to the fact that the Government will not command a majority in any Council, or to cases in which the President will not be in a position to give the requisite ruling. In all other cases they think that the last word should lie with the President of the Council. Following this principle they have substituted the word "President" for "Governor" in rules 3, 7 and 11. But with regard to the last-mentioned rule, they think it necessary to retain for the Governor the power proposed by the Government of India to disallow a motion for adjournment even though it may have received the consent of the President, and of the Council, if time permits of reference to the Governor before the adjournment takes place and if the Governor is of opinion that the proposed discussion cannot take place without detriment to the public interest. They have accordingly added a second paragraph to rule 22 to secure this power. The power to curtail public discussion in these newly constituted legislative bodies will obviously call for great discrimination in its use if it is not to prejudice their success, and to result, not in closing discussion, but in transferring it to less appropriate channels.

channels. But the Committee agree with the Government of India that the power is one which the Government must have at its command, and they feel no doubt that the Governor-General and the provincial Governors will use their discretion in this matter wisely.

18. A verbal change has also been made in sub-rule (2) of rule 8.

The changes indicated above have been made in the rules both for the Provincial Councils and the Indian Legislature.

6th July 1920.

SECOND REPORT FROM THE SELECT COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO JOIN WITH A COMMITTEE OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TO REVISE THE DRAFT RULES MADE UNDER THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT.

ORDERED TO REPORT—

1. That the Committee have met and concluded their consideration of the draft rules to be framed by the Government of India, and the Secretary of State for India in Council under the Government of India Act, 1919, which, under the provisions of that Act, require the approval of Parliament. The draft rules which are the subject of the present Report are those provisionally presented to both Houses of Parliament in Command Paper 765, and the Committee understand that these drafts will now be reprinted with such modifications and amendments as are enumerated in this Report, and with certain further amendments recommended by the Government of India since the original drafts were framed, which the Committee have considered and approved.

The

made under the Government of India Act.*

The Committee wish it to be understood that the observations contained in paragraphs 1 and 2 of their first Report apply equally to the present drafts, and that, as in the case of the drafts to which that Report related, their remarks are confined to the few changes which they have effected. In all other respects the Committee accept the drafts as framed by the Government of India.

PART I.—RULES UNDER SECTION 1.¹

2. Rule 9.—In sub-rule (1) of this rule the Committee have inserted the words “the member of” before “the Executive Council,” where the latter words first occur, and in sub-rule (2) they have inserted “or ministers” after the word “minister”.

The disagreement with which the rule is intended to deal, will, in most cases, be in origin a difference of opinion between two Departments, over one of which a Member of Council, and over the other of which a Minister presides. The rule as drafted by the Government of India correctly recognises the corporate responsibility of Ministers and of the Executive Councillors for the purposes of discussion, but the Committee think it important that when the decision is left to the Ministerial portion of the Government the corporate responsibility of Ministers should not be obscured. They do not intend to imply that, in their opinion, in every case in which an order is passed in a transferred department the order should receive the approval of all the Ministers; such a procedure would obviously militate against the expeditious disposal of business, and against the accepted canons of departmental responsibility. But in cases which are of sufficient importance to have called for discussion by the whole Government, they are clearly of opinion that the final decision should be that of one or other portion of the Government as a whole.

Rules 14,

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on Draft Rules
made under the Government of India Act.*

Rules 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18.—Realising as they do the extent to which the success of the Reforms scheme will depend upon a satisfactory solution of the difficult question of the allocation of revenues to the provincial Governments and to the Central Government respectively, the Committee have given most anxious consideration to the proposals made to this end in the Report of the Financial Relations Committee appointed by the Secretary of State for India, and to the opinions of the various Local Governments on this Report which have been laid before them. The Committee recognise the intricacy of the problem with which the Financial Relations Committee had to deal, and the difficulty, amounting almost to impossibility, of arriving at any solution which was likely to be acceptable to all Local Governments. The proposals made by Lord Meston's Committee, and embodied in these rules, have met with a varied reception. They are endorsed by the Government of India, and some Local Governments are content with the contributions proposed for them, while others dislike the ultimate standards; but certain provinces, particularly the three presidencies, are dissatisfied with the treatment of their own claims, and the Government of Bombay contest not only the amount of their contribution, but also the allocation of the heads of revenue on which the whole scheme is based. The Committee see no reason to differ from the fundamental features of the proposals, and they are definitely opposed to provincialising the taxation of income. They believe that such dissatisfaction as the proposals have aroused is inevitable in distributing resources between a central and provincial governments, and that the impossibility of removing by a stroke of the pen inequalities which are the result of long-standing and historical causes has been overlooked. None the less the Committee would be glad, on grounds of policy, to alleviate the disappointment caused by the restraints which the system of contribution lays on the employment by the provinces of their revenues. In searching; for such alleviation they have been materially assisted by suggestions from the Council of India, a body to whose advice great weight attaches inasmuch as it is the authority charged by law with the responsibility of controlling the revenues of India. Accepting the more important of these suggestions the Committee are of opinion :—

- (1) That there should be granted to all provinces some share in the growth of revenue from taxation on incomes so far as that growth is attributable to an increase in the amount of income assessed. (The manner in which this share is to be assessed and its extent are stated in the new rule 15 which the Committee have inserted, and it may be explained here that the figure 400 lakhs in that rule represents approximately 25 per cent. of the gross revenue estimated to accrue from Income Tax and Super-Tax collected by provincial agency in the year 1920-21.)
- (2) That in no case should the initial contribution payable by any province be increased, but that the gradual reduction of the aggregate contribution should be the sole means of attaining the theoretical standards recommended by the Financial Relations Committee in paragraph 27 of their Report. (The manner in which this is to be effected is expressed in the revised rule 18 which the Committee have substituted for the original rule based upon the proposals of the Financial Relations Committee.)

The acceptance of this latter proposal emphasises the intention, that the contributions from the Provinces to the Central Government should cease at the earliest possible moment. The Committee attach great importance to the fulfilment of this intention, and they are convinced that the opposition which the proposals of the Financial Relations Committee have evoked

evoked would be much diminished if it becomes possible for the Government of India to take steps to ensure the abolition of the contributions within a reasonably short period. They trust that the Government of India and the Secretary of State in Council will, in regulating their financial policy, make it their constant endeavour to render the Central Government independent of provincial assistance at the earliest possible date.

The Committee desire to add their recognition of the peculiar financial difficulties of the Presidency of Bengal, which they accordingly commend to the special consideration of the Government of India.

Rule 21.—The Committee have substituted the phrase “in the financial interests of India as a whole” for “in order to preserve the financial stability of India” as a preferable description of the circumstances in which the rule is to be applied. Without in any way wishing to facilitate interference on the part of the Government of India with the freedom of a provincial Government to dispose of its balances as it thinks best—a power which is intended to be used, and which the Committee feel sure will be used, only in exceptional circumstances—they think it undesirable that the description of the circumstances which justify its application should be such as might cause undue apprehension, and possibly adversely affect the money market.

Rules 27 and 28 and Schedule III.—The Committee have recast these rules and the Schedule referred to in them, and have introduced changes both of form and substance. In order to describe the effect of the rules as amended by the Committee, they think it desirable to state certain general propositions on which they have proceeded.

In the first place, they regard it as essential to draw a clear distinction between the powers of the provincial Government to sanction and incur expenditure on transferred subjects, and its powers in relation to expenditure on reserved subjects.

In

made under the Government of India Act.*

In the second place, they think that it is unnecessary and undesirable to prescribe by statutory rules under the Act of 1919 the extent to which the Secretary of State in Council is prepared to delegate to provincial Governments his powers of control over expenditure on reserved services. Such delegation has always in the past been effected by orders of the Secretary of State in Council made in virtue of the powers conferred by the proviso to section 21 of the Act of 1915, and the Committee recommend that this practice should be continued under the new regime. When the Act of 1919 comes into operation an order under section 21 of the earlier Act would necessarily assume an entirely new complexion, in view of the large measure of control over appropriations for reserved services vested by the new Act in the provincial Legislative Councils, and such an order might by its provisions well recognise the principles to which the Committee alluded in their observations on clause 33 in their Report on the Bill. Thus the Secretary of State in Council might in some cases permit the Governors in Council to dispense with his previous sanction to proposed appropriations for new reserved expenditure if a resolution approving the same had been passed by the Legislative Council. But whatever arrangement of this kind the Secretary of State in Council might think fit to make, the result would be a mere delegation of the Secretary of State's statutory powers of control, and his responsibility to Parliament would and must remain undiminished.

The Committee have therefore confined the scope of the present rules to expenditure on transferred subjects. It is the clear intention of the Act of 1919 that expenditure on transferred subjects shall, with the narrowest possible reservations, be within the exclusive control of the provincial legislatures and subject to no higher sanction save such as is reserved to the Governor by section 11 (2) (b)¹ of the Act. But some reservations are required. The Secretary of State in Council must retain control over expenditure ture on transferred subjects, which is likely to affect the prospects or rights of the all-India Services, which he recruits and will continue to control, and he must retain power to control the purchase of stores in the United Kingdom. But subject to these limitations Ministers should be as free as possible from external control, and the control to be exercised over expenditure on transferred subjects should be exercised by the provincial legislature, and by that body alone.

Lastly, the Committee have omitted that portion of the Government of India's draft rule in Schedule III which embodied what have been described as "canons of financial propriety," not because they do not attach the greatest importance to the observance of these principles by all authorities entrusted with the expenditure of public funds, from Ministers and Executive Councillors downwards, but because they think that it would be constitutionally impossible for the Secretary of State in Council to take power, in the rules which he is to frame under section 33¹ of the Act, to intervene in the administration of transferred subjects for the purpose of securing compliance with these canons, and that it would be inappropriate to lay down conditions in these rules which, so far as Ministers are concerned, there will be no power to enforce. They recommend, therefore, that the substance of these rules should be enacted as part of the rules to be framed by the Secretary of State in Council under section 39² of the Act for the purpose of prescribing the duties of the Auditor-General, that the duty should be specifically laid upon that authority of conducting his audit with reference to these canons, and that any breach which he detects should be brought promptly to the notice of the Local Government and of the Committee of Public Accounts. It will then be the duty of the Legislative Council to rectify irregularities of this description, and the manner in which notice has been taken of reports of the Auditor-General will be an obvious

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on Draft Rules
made under the Government of India Act.*

obvious point to which the Parliamentary Commission would be likely to direct its attention.

Rules 30 and 31.—Formal changes have been made in these rules.

Rules 32 and 33 have been re-drafted, on the recommendation of the Government of India, so as to enable the Governor to cancel an order of allocation before the end of the normal period of its expiry should the disagreement which necessitated the order have been dissolved, or should his Ministers and Members of the Executive Council have devised by mutual consent a method of allocation which they prefer to that in force.

Rule 40.—A formal change has been made in this rule.

Rule 44.—The Committee have inserted at the end of the first sentence the words “for the orders of the Local Government” with a view to securing to the Finance Department that its advice shall be considered by the Governor in Council or the Governor and Ministers, as the case may be, before a decision is taken which may involve disregard of that advice.

Rule 48 has been slightly expanded so as to provide for settlement, in case of disagreement between the Government of India and the provincial Government.

Rule 49.—A clause has been added, identical in form, mutatis mutandis, with a clause added to the corresponding rule under Section 33,¹ in order to enable intervention in transferred administration for the purposes of carrying out the provisions of the Act relating to the office of High Commissioner, the control of provincial borrowing, the regulation of the services, the duties of the Audit Department, and for the enforcement of certain rules which are intended to place restrictions on the freedom of Ministers, such as the rules requiring the employment of officers of the Indian Medical Service and the rules contained in Schedule III.

Schedule I,

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on Draft Rules
made under the Government of India Act.*

Schedule I, paragraph 20.—The Committee have thought it desirable to insert the words “made after consultation with the Local Government or Local Governments concerned,” though they have little doubt that even were the words not inserted such consultation would invariably take place.

Schedule IV, Rule 10.—The Committee have omitted the forms appended to this rule as originally drafted and have made a consequential change in the wording of the rule. It appears to them unnecessary and undesirable to stereotype in statutory rules forms of which the details may well require periodical modification in the light of experience.

RULES UNDER SECTION 2.¹

3. The Committee have recast rules 2 and 3 of these rules in order—

- (1) to provide a more elastic specification of the purposes for which loans may be raised;
- (2) to differentiate loans raised in India from those raised in the United Kingdom for the purpose of prescribing the sanctioning authority, and
- (3) to enable the Government of India or the Secretary of State, as the case may be, to retain control over the effective rate of interest to be charged and the amount and form of the issue.

The reason which has influenced the Committee in deciding upon these last two provisions is that in the case of loans to be raised in India the retention of control over provincial borrowing is in their view essential in the interests not only of the Central Government, but also of the provinces themselves (e.g., to prevent unrestricted provincial competition). Similar considerations are applicable to the sterling borrowing operation of the provinces, and, apart from

*Report of the Joint Select Committee on Draft Rules
made under the Government of India Act.*

from this, the Committee consider that the experience of the Secretary of State in Council in the London market is such that the chances of success of provincial loans in London will be for the present much greater if they are launched with his authority, and on his advice.

RULES UNDER SECTION 46.¹

4. These rules have been forwarded by the Government of India since the original drafts were provisionally presented to Parliament, and the Committee consider them the most appropriate solution of the problem they are intended to solve—namely, the settlement of the somewhat complicated question whether the large class of persons such as village officials, government pleaders, law lecturers, etc., who though in receipt of fees or small allowances from the Government are not whole-time Government servants, are to be regarded as officials for the purposes of the Act.

RULE UNDER SECTION 33.²

5. This rule (which as already stated is exactly parallel with the corresponding rule (49) under section 1) is confined to relaxation of the Secretary of State's control over transferred subjects, and the Committee consider that no statutory divestment of control, except over the transferred field, is either necessary or desirable. It is open to the Secretary of State to entrust larger powers, administrative and financial, to the Governor-General in Council and the provincial Governors in Council, and he will no doubt be largely influenced in deciding whether or not to require reference to himself in any given case, or whether to interpose his orders when reference has been made, by the attitude of provincial public public opinion as expressed in the Legislative Council. But these matters cannot be regulated by statutory rules, and any authority which the Secretary of State may decide to pass on to the official governments in India will be a mere delegation of his own authority and responsibility, for the exercise of which in relation to central and reserved subjects he must remain accountable to Parliament.

GENERAL.

6. This concludes the Committee's observations on the draft rules. In the course of their deliberations they have, however, considered at the request of the Government of India, two cognate matters which call for some comment. In their Report on the Bill the Committee expressed the opinion that it would be a great advantage if, wherever possible, the Presidents of provincial Legislative Councils (who for the first four years are to be nominated) were persons with Parliamentary experience. The Government of India and the Local Governments have given full consideration to this suggestion, and their views have been laid before the Committee. The consensus of opinion is that there would be great practical difficulties involved in carrying out the suggestion, and the Committee are prepared to defer to this opinion. They are glad, however, to learn that it is intended to give effect to their recommendation in this respect as regards the President of the Legislative Assembly.

7. The second matter which has been brought to the Committee's notice is the desire that they should reconsider the recommendation made in their Report on the Bill, that if a provincial Executive Council contains two members with service qualifications, neither of whom is by birth an Indian, it should also contain two non-official Indian members. The Committee have given their best consideration to the arguments upon which this request was based, but they see no reason to change their opinion. They recognise

made under the Government of India Act.*

recognise that this decision may involve a slightly greater man-power in the Government than present statistics would strictly justify, but they have little doubt that the increase of work arising out of the new legislative bodies will be such as to render past experience a doubtful guide as to the volume of business likely to fall upon the executive, and in any case they think it of more importance that as many Indian gentlemen as possible should obtain experience inside the Government, than that the salaries of a few of them should be economised.

RULES UNDER THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT.

RELAXATION OF THE POWERS OF SUPERINTENDENCE, DIRECTION AND CONTROL VESTED IN THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

(Rule under section 19A of the Government of India Act.)

No. 835-G., dated the 14th December, 1920.—The following rule made by the Secretary of State for India in Council under the provisions of section 33 of the Government of India Act, 1919, is published for general information:—

The powers of superintendence, direction and control vested in the Secretary of State and the Secretary of State in Council under the Act or otherwise shall, in relation to transferred subjects, be exercised only for the following purposes, namely:—

- (1) to safeguard the administration of central subjects;
- (2) to decide questions arising between two provinces, in cases where the provinces concerned fail to arrive at an agreement;
- (3) to safeguard Imperial interests;

Part II.—Duties and Powers as regards Audit.

10. (a) The Auditor-General, without prejudice to his other audit functions, is responsible that audit is conducted with reference to the following canons, namely:—

- (1) Every public officer should exercise the same vigilance in respect of expenditure incurred from Government revenues as a person of ordinary prudence would exercise in respect of the expenditure of his own money.
- (2) Money borrowed on the security of allocated revenues should be expended on those objects only for which, as provided by rules made under the Act, money may be so borrowed. If the money is utilized on works which are not productive, arrangements should be made for the amortization of the debt.
- (3) No authority should exercise its powers of sanctioning expenditure to pass an order which will be directly or indirectly to its own advantage.
- (4) Government revenues should not be utilized for the benefit of a particular person or section of the community unless—
 - (i) the amount of expenditure involved is insignificant, or
 - (ii) a claim for the amount could be enforced in a court of law, or
 - (iii) the expenditure is in pursuance of a recognized policy or custom.
- (5) No authority should sanction any expenditure which is likely to involve at a later date expenditure beyond its own powers of sanction.
- (6) The amount of allowances, such as travelling allowances, granted to meet expenditure of a particular type, should be so regulated that the allowances are not on the whole sources of profit to the recipients.

(b) The Auditor-General, or any principal auditor, should bring to the notice of the Governor-General in Council or the Local Government, as the case may be, any breach of one of these canons.

14. When an objection taken in the course of audit cannot be adjusted by a principal auditor in consultation with the authorities concerned, the Auditor-General may either instruct the principal auditor to withdraw the objection or require the Governor-General in Council or the Local Government concerned to obtain the requisite sanction, or, in default, to recover the amount under objection:—

Provided that

INSTRUMENT OF INSTRUCTIONS TO GOVERNORS.

GEORGE R. I.

INSTRUMENT OF INSTRUCTIONS TO THE GOVERNOR OR ACTING GOVERNOR FOR THE TIME BEING OF THE PRESIDENCY OF FORT WILLIAM IN BENGAL.*

Whereas by the Government of India Act, provision has been made for the gradual development of self-governing institutions in British India with a view to the progressive realisation of responsible government in that country as an integral part of Our Empire;

And whereas it is Our will and pleasure that, in the execution of the Office of Governor in and over the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, you shall further the purposes of the said Act, to the end that the institutions and methods of government therein provided shall be laid upon the best and surest foundations, that the people of the said presidency shall acquire such habits of political action and respect such conventions as will best and soonest fit them for self-government, and that Our authority and the authority of Our Governor-General in Council shall be duly maintained;

Now, therefore, We do hereby direct and enjoin you and declare Our will and pleasure to be as follows:—

I. You shall do all that lies in your power to maintain standards of good administration; to encourage religious toleration, co-operation and goodwill among all classes and creeds; to ensure the probity of public finance and the solvency of the presidency; and to promote all measures making for the moral, social, and industrial welfare of the people, and tending to fit all classes of the population without distinction to take their due share in the public life and government of the country.

II. You shall bear in mind that it is necessary and expedient that those now and hereafter to be enfranchised shall appreciate the duties, responsibilities and advantages which spring from the privilege of enfranchisement; that is to say, that those who exercise the power henceforward entrusted to them of returning representatives to the legislative council, being enabled to perceive the effects of their choice of a representative, and that those who are returned to

to the council, being enabled to perceive the effects of their votes given therein, shall come to look for the redress of their grievances and the improvement of their condition to the working of representative institutions.

III. Inasmuch as certain matters have been reserved for the administration according to law of the Governor in Council, in respect of which the authority of Our Governor General in Council shall remain unimpaired, while certain other matters have been transferred to the administration of the Governor acting with a Minister, it will be for you so to regulate the business of the government of the presidency that, so far as may be possible, the responsibility for each of these respective classes of matters may be kept clear and distinct.

IV. Nevertheless, you shall encourage the habit of joint deliberation between yourself, your Councillors and your Ministers, in order that the experience of your official advisers may be at the disposal of your Ministers, and that the knowledge of your Ministers as to the wishes of the people may be at the disposal of your Councillors.

V. You shall assist Ministers by all the means in your power in the administration of the transferred subjects, and advise them in regard to their relations with the legislative council.

VI. In considering a Minister's advice and deciding whether or not there is sufficient cause in any case to dissent from his opinion, you shall have due regard to his relations with the legislative council and to the wishes of the people of the presidency as expressed by their representatives therein.

VII. But in addition to the general responsibilities with which you are, whether by statute or under this Instrument, charged, We do further hereby specially require and charge you:—

- (1) to see that whatsoever measures are, in your opinion, necessary for maintaining safety and tranquillity in all parts of your presidency and for preventing occasions of religious or racial conflict, are duly taken, and that all orders issued by Our Secretary of State or by Our Governor General in Council on Our behalf to whatever matters relating are duly complied with.
- (2) to take care that due provision shall be made for the advancement and social welfare of those classes amongst the people committed to your charge, who, whether on account of the smallness of their number or their lack of educational or material advantages or from any other cause, specially rely upon Our protection, and cannot as yet fully rely for their welfare upon joint political action, and that such classes shall not suffer, or have cause to fear, neglect or oppression;

- (3) to see that no order of your Government and no Act of your legislative council shall be so framed that any of the diverse interests of or arising from race, religion, education, social condition, wealth or any other circumstance, may receive unfair advantage, or may unfairly be deprived of privileges or advantages which they have heretofore enjoyed, or be excluded from the enjoyment of benefits which may hereafter be conferred on the people at large;
- (4) to safeguard all members of Our services employed in the said presidency in the legitimate exercise of their functions, and in the enjoyment of all recognised rights and privileges, and to see that your Government order all things justly and reasonably in their regard, and that due obedience is paid to all just and reasonable orders and diligence shown in their execution;
- (5) to take care that, while the people inhabiting the said presidency shall enjoy all facilities for the development of commercial and industrial undertakings, no monopoly or special privilege which is against the common interest shall be established, and no unfair discrimination shall be made in matters affecting commercial or industrial interests.

VIII. And We do hereby charge you to communicate these Our Instructions to the Members of your Executive Council and your Ministers and to publish the same in your presidency in such manner as you may think fit.
